Wayne Brady

Personal Bio

Wayne Brady is perhaps one of the funniest comedic actors on TV. His hilarious improvisational antics, paired with his ability to impersonate just about anyone, have won the laughs of many Americans on ABC's hit comedy series "Whose Line is it Anyway?" Now, the two-time Emmy nominated Brady brings those same talents and more to his hit syndicated talk/variety show, "The Wayne Brady Show," for Buena Vista Television.

Wayne made history as the first African American to ever host the Miss America Competition in September of 2002. Wayne also starred in and produced "The Wayne Brady Show" a primetime variety show for ABC in 2001 and hosted the VH-1's "Vinyl Justice," KABC's "Countdown to the American Music Awards," and was seen opposite Drew Carey in ABC's "Gepetto." Wayne also brought the house down in an appearance at the 2nd Annual TV Guide Awards.

Wayne continues to tour the country with his own Improv show, "Wayne Brady and Friends," selling out the nation's top theaters and venues.
